

The Prune Cure.

The "Keeley cure" has no doubt done wonders in reforming men addicted to the drink habit, and cannot be too highly recommended to our esteemed contemporaries throughout the country. But the "cure" that is adapted to all classes, ages, sexes and conditions is evidently the "prune cure," if we may rely upon the following statement lately made by a well-known physician of Chicago. Hear him: "I have made the prune a subject of special study and have conducted a series of experiments with a view to proving its efficacy as a preventive of crime. I was once connected with a reformatory institution. It was there that I first saw the possibilities in the prune. Vicious youths would come under my care who would rebel against every restraint and resist every influence intended for their good. If they persisted in their defiance of the rules I would prescribe prunes as a diet. Well, one week's treatment invariably brought them around peaceable as lambs. After that there was no trouble in controlling them. All that was necessary was to feed them once a day on prunes, and we had no exhibition of unruliness. There is a certain medicinal property in the prune which acts directly upon the nervous system, and that is where the evil passions have their seat. I believe that if the prune were made a compulsory portion of the diet of the lower classes there would be less crime. Some day I shall publish a treatise embodying my views on the subject, which will earn the everlasting thanks of the public."—Correspondent California Fruit Grower.

The Yale Crew's Plans.

LONDON, July 14.—Since the Yale crew went out of training after their defeat by Leander in the Henley regatta, they have been very busy discussing plans for the future. They have practically determined that they will enter the Intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie in the spring with the crews from Cornell, Harvard, Columbia and Pennsylvania. They have also decided that they will enter this race with an English cedar boat and oars and using the English stroke. With regard to the seats, slides and other arrangements of the boat it will be rigged exactly as it was here.

The crew is taking back estimates and measurements and, according to their present plans, an order will be given for their new equipment soon after their arrival in America. The Yale crew intends that their university shall have a crew at the Henley regatta in 1898.

Pabst Is Its Name.

Climate of every variety exerts a different influence on the desires of mankind for a stimulant. In colder zones beverages of great alcoholic strength are used to a very much larger degree than in the tropics. Beer is best suited to our climate and none found in the market is better than that bearing the brand of "PABST, MILWAUKEE." It is brewed from the best of malt and hops and is a great thirst quencher and invigorator and stimulates the nerves and muscles. At the Royal, Cosmopolitan and Pacific saloons it may be found, cold and pure. Interchangeable checks are issued which may be used at any of the three resorts.
